

The Blue and Gold

Riverdale High School's Student Newspaper

Editor: Betty Cooper

Volume 47, Issue 23

Former Principal Ross passes away as age 67

By Jughead Jones

Former Principal Marshal Ross passed away Saturday at the age of 67. He was a polarizing figure in the Riverdale community after hiring the Southside Serpents for a semester for security. Principal Ross quickly moved to Greendale after his one year as the Riverdale Principal. He returned to his true love of teaching shop class. He loved cars and helping students learn how to be responsible

He leaves behind a sister Maggie (Ross) Fairview, niece Cherry Fairview, nephew Mark Fairview.

His services will be held at the Spellman funeral home and crematory in Greendale on Wednesday and burial on Thursday.

Former students who would like to pay tribute Principal Ross are asked to donate to Students with Purpose in lieu of sending flowers.

Rabbits attack Maple Trees!

By Betty Cooper

Blossom Maple Syrup may be in serious financial trouble after a large number of tree-eating rabbits were discovered eating their valuable maple trees. Shareholders continue to demand answers as the Blossom family tries to find a way (scrambles for a way) to get rid of the rabbits. The tree-eating rabbits appear to be a variety that is much larger than the regular rabbits that roam Riverdale.

The Blossom family has issued a warning to anyone who might have brought the tree-eating rabbits to Riverdale. "You will get what is coming to you!" said Cheryl Blossom

Special points of interest:

- Riverdale debate team heads to regionals
- Badminton team beats Baxter High
- Maple Syrup shortage in Riverdale
- Josie and The Pussycats suddenly cancel dance performance